how cunning is your cat? £8.99

DESCRIPTION

Cogito ergo... meeeoow

Dr Ivor Kitten has compiled 9 quick and easy tests that make up the How Cunning Is Your Cat? test. It's the sure fire way of finding out if your moggy is a creature of comfort or a homicidal maniac. Hopefully, it'll be the former and your cat will vent its inherent frustration at the stupidity of humans on the Catnip mouse included in the box. Or, maybe you'll wake up one morning tied to its scratching post while it steals your credit cards and takes over your identity, pausing only to force feed you Kitty Numbkins Tuna Treats.

Whilst there's no point worrying about what might happen, it's wise to take the precaution of putting Tiddles to the test, just so you can prepare yourself.

Features:

- A series of 9 tests to determine just how cunning your cat really is
- Tests include: testing your moggy's curiosity, body image and intelligence
- A free catnip mouse has been included to give Tibbs a bit of encouragement

6 in 1 solar robot kit £9.99

DESCRIPTION

Solar energy really seems to be taking off, and it's about time too. The 6 in 1 Solar Robot Kit takes full advantage of that flaming ball of gas, not 93,000,000 miles away, we lovingly call the sun. It's a DIY beginner's kit that's perfect for anyone with more than a passing interest in robots (which is everyone, surely?). You can build the kit 6 different ways which means once you've finished making one robot, you can take it apart and turn it into a solar powered boat, windmill, or car and that's just 3 of them. The diagrams are very easy to follow, we even let the office luddite have a go at building one. Not only is it really fun to make but it's great for showing you solar power in action, so it's educational as well as fun to make.

If you live somewhere that doesn't get a lot of sunlight (anywhere in mainland UK for instance) you'll be very happy to hear that the sun isn't the only source of energy this kit can draw power from. A 50 watt halogen lightbulb will do the trick, meaning you can even play with your robot on those rainy winter days. The 6 in 1 Solar Robot kit is just the ticket for the eco conscious roboteer.

A solar powered robot kit that can be used to build six different models including:

- Solar Car
- Solar Puppy
- Solar Airboat
- Solar Plane
- Solar Windmill
- Solar Revolving Plane.
- Easy to follow instructions make it perfect for beginners.
- For best results use outside in direct sunlight.
- For indoor fun use a 50 watt halogen bulb.
- The kit will not work in cloudy or shady locations or under a fluorescent light.
- The solar module powers the gearbox.
- Suitable for ages 10 years +.

Size:

- Solar Car: 6.9 x 4.9 x 3.5cm
- Solar Puppy: 6.6 x 6.5 x 4.6cm
- Solar Airboat: 12.2 x 7.6 x 6.2cm

Shockball £14.99

View larger image

DESCRIPTION

There's nothing quite as nerve-wracking as playing pass the parcel with a time-bomb, or quite as much fun. Shockball is basically catch for the brave and the hard. This red metal-studded ball contains a hidden wickedness - that is rather given away by the name. Turn it on and then start throwing it to one another and at some random point in the all too near future, the person catching it will get zapped.

You never know when it's going to 'go live', so it turns catch on its head - instead of worrying whether or not you can catch the ball, now you'll worry about what will happen if you catch the ball. This rubber-coated land mine has been the cause of lots of shrieks in the office - though oddly they seem to come before the person's even caught the thing. There's nothing like a bit of anticipatory fear to spice up a game!

Features:

- A rubber coated 'throw and catch' ball with a twist, 18 conductive metal pads to shock you by surprise.
- An internal timer that randomly decides to time-out and shock whoever is holding the ball at that point.
- An on/off switch so if you want a break from the shocks you can just play regular catch.

- Colours may vary.
- Suitable for ages 14 years+.
- Requires 2 x AAA Batteries (not included).
- Size: 7 x 7 x 7cm
